

In this monologue, Jamie – a high school senior working at a group home – tells the audience of the sudden and devastating turn his life has taken. While the role was originally written for a young man, it can be played by anyone.